

Change Leader – Creative Change Scholarships (Formerly – Random Acts of Art)

Purpose:

Creative Change Scholarships fund projects spearheaded by Change Leaders, which encourage innovative cultural engagement in communities. Scholarships can range from cultural projects to targeted community-based activities.

Goals:

- Assist Change Leaders in building value and increasing connections within their communities.
- Support “push projects” that are outside of normal organizational programming.
- Illustrate the impact of arts or museums in meeting social/community needs.
- Strengthen and raise awareness of the Change Leader Program.

A project must meet the following criteria:

- The applicant must request funding through a nonprofit institution (501(c)(3) or government agency and the check must be issued to that institution.
- If this creates a difficulty please reach out to us
- The project meets the Creative Change purpose
- This project must be new to your organization, a “push project”, and not something that is part of your typical programming.
- Scholarship funds must be spent and project must be completed within the fiscal year, ending June 30th.
- Only certified Change Leaders may apply
 - The exception to this rule is if a Change Leader is using this scholarship as part of their certification project.
- A certified Change Leader must act as a chief organizer.

Award money may NOT be used for:

- Projects that are part of regular programming or services that organization(s) generally offer.

- Projects that have already taken place.
- A Change Leader's personal gain or that of immediate family members.
- For-profit ventures.
- Projects that are receiving other UA&M funding for the same activity.
- A new project, if the applicant Change Leader received a Creative Change Scholarship (formerly Random Acts of Art) in the previous fiscal year but did not submit an evaluation for the project.
- No more than 20% of any Creative Change Scholarship may be used for hospitality.
- No scholarship funds may be used for the purchase of alcohol.
- No scholarship funds may be used for political advocacy.
- NOTE - If a Creative Change Scholarship is to be used for activities associated with a fundraiser, it is recommended that you contact a member of the Community Arts team prior to making application.
